

The First Annual Tennessee Bed Bug & Cockroach Management in Low-income Multifamily Housing Meeting

July 29, 2015

Hollingsworth Auditorium, Ellington Plant Science Building,
The University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture

Agenda

- 8:30 Integrated Pest Management (IPM) in Housing
Susannah Reese (Cornell University, NE IPM Center)
- 9:30 Successfully Managing Severe Cockroach Infestations in Multifamily Housing with Gel Baits
Dr. Dini Miller (Virginia Tech)
- 10:30 Break
- 10:45 IPM Approaches to Successful Bed Bug Management in Low-Income High-Rise Apartments: Efficacy and Costs
Dr. Changlu Wang (Rutgers University)
- 12:15 Managing Bed Bugs: An Industry View (Working Lunch)
Doug Bost (Orkin, Knoxville)
- 1:00 Experiences with Dust and Heat Treatments (Including Chambers)
Dr. Dini Miller (Virginia Tech)
- 2:00 Successful Bed Bug Monitoring using Four or Fewer Detectors in Low-Income High-Rise Apartments and IPM Implementation in Knoxville
Dr. Karen Vail (University of Tennessee)
- 2:45 Break
- 3:00 Using Steam and an In-house Approach to Managing Bed Bugs
Adam Williams and Lee Braddock (Johnson City Housing Authority)
- 3:45 Question and Answer Session with Panel (Vail [moderator], Reese, Miller, Wang, Bost, Williams, Braddock, and Morton [Orkin technician]) Audience Participation
- 4:30 General Session ends, meeting dismissed