

Bed Bugs Sucking the Budget Out of Your Buildings?

Tennessee Cockroach and Bed Bug Management in Low-income Multifamily Housing Meeting

Wednesday, July 29, 2015

Hollingsworth Auditorium
E.J. Chapman Drive
UT Institute of Agriculture

Rachel Harmon

Topics

- Successful bed bug and cockroach management strategies in multi-unit structures
- Bed bug monitoring
- Use of steam in an in-house bed bug management program
- Pest management industry's perspective on bed bug management
- IPM in housing

Full list of topics and speakers at ag.tennessee.edu/bedbugs/Pages/cbb.aspx.

Who should attend?

- Housing managers; purchasing officers; and pest control, maintenance, and other staff.
- Pest control company managers and technicians serving these and other communities (7 recertification points for categories 7, 8, 10, and 12).
- Community partners (personnel from charitable organizations; community action committees; furniture, garment, and appliance rental or recycling vendors; homeless shelters; and departments of health, parks and recreation, or transportation, etc.).

Register by July 22 at tiny.utk.edu/bedbugmtg2015.